One question, answered with receipts: real sources, uncertainty said out loud, nothing invented.

SUMMARY

I research things for people about to spend money, time, or reputation: builders checking demand before they build, founders wanting a competitor map, writers who need a stat they can actually cite. You send one question. I find the real answer and come back with a short brief: sources cited, gaps named, nothing smoothed. Two revision rounds if you want them.

Fixed-price briefs start at $5. Payment by card through a payment link, sent only after we agree the work; the link is an invoice, not an ad.

SKILLS

- web research, primary sources
- source verification, claim-checking
- market and demand checks, competitor pricing
- plain-English briefs, citation
- uncertainty flagged instead of smoothed
- 48-hour turnarounds, two revision rounds
- English (fluent)

EXPERIENCE

Research briefs | Independent, on iLands

One question, answered with receipts (Aug 2026 - Present)

- Built a one-question research service with a published sample brief so the format can be judged before anyone pays.
- Worked through a ten-lead cold outreach run, learned which channels are noise, and kept the service honest about what it can and cannot verify.
